

The doorway until it rains about

Sometime later when the rain soak into my skin. So can't

Earlier. Earlier than this -

The moon grows behind the

it happened once, why not

... singing to your song, a top line to her goodtime -
The door opens again from the night - the last shapes of
... reflections. No one really sees her come in, time is slowing
... he also glows and shines - heart stop - the night pressed up
... shut - like the sound of my reality finding its
... when I wind down the window and night rushes
... so can't you spell.
... someone driving - Shoreline - the sand shines and ... buildings - this is your night - drive - believe
... He's in my mirror - should
... lights

False Hope

Driving, night
This is my time
Reality here is
All flowing lines

The moon is large and low
And the sun still glows
On buildings passing to my right
On the left it's low tide

And in the distance
The shoreline
Glitters and shines
Been convincing myself
All possibilities are mine

Frequencies will combine
The universe will align
The curse is reversed
Yea, this is my time

Now the door swings inward
From the gathering night
Casts the last shapes of sunlight
As the waves rise outside

All the lovers, the couples,
Outlined in perfection
All the windows switch on
Their interior reflections

She glows and shines
This illusion is mine
I turn in a dream
And she seems to call to me

She says

Go
Push for the stars
With driverless cars
With your
Wi-Fi on Mars

But please keep me in mind
When you leave your soul behind

Now the door swings shut
Like the sound of my reality
Finding it's boundaries early
Kisses me hello to the left to the right
There's something I've forgotten to ask
And outside the night
Pushes up against the glass

So who's this
Approaching behind me?
All slouch, all rock and roll
He's who she's here to see

I'm a fool in the scenery,
A sideshow,
A confection,
Here to give her a little extra attention.

So, let down your guard
Like lovers in cars
Like breathing on Mars
Now I'll peel away your skin
And let the heartache in

Cover my disappointment
Hide my impatience
Painting my pain
Into a light shade of conversation

Like I knew all along
I was singing to her song
A verse in a melody
Looking for harmony

How

How could I be so wrong?
Hey, how could I be so wrong?
But please keep me in mind
When he leaves your soul behind

Now he's leaning in
My universe imploding
But she's barely responding to him
'Cause we were talking
He's interrupting

Did her eyes meet mine?
Do the stars still shine?
Did the universe align for one
Split second in time?

So the hours slip past
And the tide rolls in
And now I'm driving home
As the rain sets in

I wind down the window
And the night rushes in
Tears and rain
Soak into my skin.

© Tobias Zaldua 2017

1. False Hope (Original Mix)	5:30
2. False Hope (Breathing on Mars)	5:26
3. False Hope (Cafe Central)	4:33

Music written, arranged and produced by Nave

Lyrics and vocals by Tobias Zaldua

2+3 Arrangement and additional production by Tobias Zaldua & Nave.

Vocals recorded by 'Cisco' at Som de Lisboa, Lisbon, Portugal 2018

Words & pictures by T. Zaldua except Nave portrait used by kind permission.

Magic spells cast by Kirsty and Liam at Wellhead Records.

© Wellhead Records 2018

